

Graphic Organizer 19

Group Interaction

Directions: Psychologists who study groups and how people in groups interact have identified four types of groups. They have also identified three characteristics of groups that hold them together. Complete the graphic organizer on the left by listing the four types of groups and giving a description of each. Complete the graphic organizer on the right by listing the three characteristics that hold groups together and giving a definition of each characteristic.

Types of Groups	Description

Characteristics That Hold Groups Together	Definition

Copyright © by The McGraw-Hill Companies, Inc.